

III. READING COMPREHENSION (3.0 PTS)

Hue Imperial City, situated on the northern bank of the Perfume River, was the capital of Vietnam during the Nguyen Dynasty from 1802 to 1945. It is a massive complex featuring hundreds of historic monuments, including the Forbidden Purple City, palaces, royal tombs, and pagodas. In 1993, the Complex of Hue Monuments was officially recognized as a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage site. Today, Hue attracts millions of international and domestic tourists each year. Preserving Hue's ancient architectural landmarks while developing sustainable tourism is currently a key priority for the local authorities.
